Understanding ____________’s PH1

(name)

This confidential handout is to let you know that this person has a chronic disease called primary hyperoxaluria type 1, also known as PH1. While the disease stays mostly invisible, here’s some perspective to help you understand how to support them in their management.

What to know & how you can help

There are a few important things to know about people with PH1:

THEY NEED TO DRINK LOTS OF WATER

People with PH1 need to tend to their hyperhydration needs, which may include frequent trips to the restroom.

THEY MAY NOT FEEL WELL

People with PH1 may experience great pain or discomfort, feel ill or tired, or experience feelings of anxiety and isolation.

THEIR ATTENDANCE MAY BE AFFECTED

People with PH1 may have frequent appointments with their care team, and may have to miss events from time to time.*

*Some people with PH1 have to undergo dialysis. In these cases, attendance is likely to be more severely affected.
